THE GATES MILLS HISTORICAL SOCIETY PRESENTS A NEW BOOK

In Our Own Voices debuted at The Historical Society's Annual Dinner at Burton Court. The sold out dinner began with a cocktail hour on the terrace on a beautiful spring night followed by dinner and a presentation on the Coast Guard Station in Gates Mills.

If the planets align just right, the book will be available on July 4th at the Museum. We will contact you about where to pick up your orders!

"In Our Own Voices is a Village memoir"
- Gail Palmer

"The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence." But not in the Village of Gates Mills! Villagers know this deep in their hearts. Now they are opening their hearts and painting a picture of village life in the 1900s.

What makes this 9+ square mile Village so special? Yes, it is a beautiful community carefully tended in the Chagrin River Valley. Yes, the trees, winding roads and river views are picturesque. Yes, the Western Reserve Architecture preserves a New England charm. And, yes, the aura of horses and hounds chasing wily quarry sparks romantic visions of days gone by. But the feeling of belonging to an exceptional community is personal and enduring.

While several books chronicle Village history in the 1800s and early 1900s, this volume is unique and fills the gap for the 20th century. All readers will enjoy the reminiscences, tales and bits of history of this charming community. Find a cozy armchair, sit down and read how villagers remember Gates Mills, its favorite places and—the fires, floods and bluebloods.
